

I strongly support net neutrality as it is backed by title II oversight of ISP's. If we pretend to be an open and fair market than we must be one, which means we CANNOT be allowing these monster corporations to sell out our market. The effect of this would be a take over of the internet by the people who have time and again shown they are not there to serve the people of this nation, and rather only wish to serve themselves. We must protect net neutrality as a fundamental component of a free democracy in which freedom of speech is considered a right and not a priviledge.
